Lansing Contractor To Chair Leading Construction Association

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 3, 2023 – The Associated General Contractors (AGC) of Michigan has elected Dennis Carignan, President of Lansing-based Granger Construction Company as chairman of the association’s board of directors. AGC is Michigan’s leading full-service association for commercial building construction firms.

“I am honored and humbled to help lead this great association over the next year,” said Dennis Carignan. “Like other leaders from Granger Construction before me, I feel fortunate to have the opportunity to help direct Michigan’s premier construction organization, representing the best Michigan’s construction industry has to offer.”

Mr. Carignan, a 25-year veteran in construction, joined Granger in 1998 and was recently promoted to the company’s President. He holds a B.S. in construction management from Michigan State University and an MBA from the University of Michigan. He is active in his community and lives with his wife and children in Flushing.

Serving alongside Mr. Carignan as 2023 officers of the AGC of Michigan are vice chairman Jeff Baxa of Barton Malow Company in Southfield, and treasurer Darren Murray of DeMaria Building Company in Novi.
